The Leprechauns Left Their Magic Emerald Isle! Castles! History! Magic! Romance!

While leprechauns are distinctly on the wane, there is still something magical about the Emerald Isle. Perhaps—the ghostly presence of ruined castles and ancient Celtic graves, called dolmens. Perhaps—the green terrain, combining the rugged with the gently pastoral. Or perhaps—it is merely the linguistic pyrotechnics of the people, who seem to think—and speak—in metaphor, impregnating their environment with secret meaning.

Whether you travel to the Lakeland counties of Monaghan and Cavan, the ancient Kingdom of Munster in the lovely southwest (which includes the alliteratively named counties of Clare, Cork and Kerry), or the beaches along the east coast, you will never be far from a Catholic church—or a pub—or traditional Irish hospitality.

7 nights from $699 (USD)—Visit a land brimming over with history. See the majestic beauty of the coastline, landmark lighthouses, quaint seaside towns and unspoiled wilderness. Uncover history around every turn of Boston's famous Freedom Trail and along the walls of the Citadel, Halifax's 19th-century bastion fortification. Be inspired by the same powerful seascapes in Portland, Maine, that gave poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow his muse. The stories unfold along the sea.

Norwegian Majesty

Ryndam

7-Day Mexican Riviera Cruise

7 nights, oceanview cabin, from $719 (USD)—Seeking a vacation with a touch of international intrigue that's also close to home? Think Mexico - friendly, festive and just far enough away to escape routine. Shopping for shiny silver bracelets one day, trolling for trophy-size marlin the next. All while enjoying the spacious surroundings and award-winning service of your luxurious Holland America ship. And did you know? Every winter, and estimated 15,000 gray whales migrate from their summer feeding grounds in Alaska to breed and give birth in the balmy "birthing bays" of the Baja's Pacific Coast.

Viking Europe

European Adventure - Amsterdam to Vienna

12 nights from $2689 (USD)—In addition to the beautiful Rhine River, this 12-night adventure through the heart of Europe also cruises along the charming Main and Danube Rivers, visiting historic regions in Austria, Germany and the Netherlands. This river cruise exploration sails amidst some of Europe's loveliest countryside, encountering history and tradition in every port. Don't miss the breathtaking views as you navigate through Austria's delightfully scenic Wachau Valley, and in Southern Germany, visit some of the most perfectly preserved medieval towns and villages. ### Wind Star

7 nights from $2995 (USD)—What can we tell you about a Windstar cruise in Tahiti? That it's an experience that will spoil you for other vacations? That it is romantic and luxurious and liberating? It is all that and more. You breeze past fruit vendors and shell sellers down to the picturesque harbor in Papeete, in the middle of which, with tall white masts, is a ship. Not one of the common boats dancing on buoys: she's sleeker, sportive, more yacht-like and fine. It's hard to imagine a more perfect pairing than this place and this ship.

Marco Polo

Connoisseur's Europe - London to Lisbon

13 nights from $1795 (USD)—If Europe's glittering capitals are a feast for the mind, then the countryside is a banquet for the senses. Here you will find storybook castles and scenic beauty, medieval villages and art masterpieces, regions of renowned vintages and epicurean delicacies, and churches that provide a glimpse into the soul: Romanesque basilicas, miraculous shrines and glorious Mont St. Michel in Normandy.

Infinity

12 Night Hawaii Cruise from Vancouver to Honolulu

12 nights from $1300 (USD)—Romantic Hawaii is waiting for you! As you close your eyes and reminisce on your private veranda, the crimson sun dips slowly into the endless horizon. You bask into the last remnants of golden light. Sipping a fruity drink, your mind journeys back to the day's events. You smile at the notion that you spent the entire day in only a bathing suit and sandals. The traditional coconut-braided hat that dips low on your head is an indication of found treasures. Reaching for the fragrant lei around your neck, you wonder how to prolong this dream.

Well-preserved wrecks are "artificial" reefs over half a century young. Overgrown with great variety of sealife! World-class

Your Truk (Chuuk) Lagoon Dive Adventures Wrecks or Reefs?

Wrecks—Truk Lagoon has been rated "Number One Shipwreck Diving" location for three decades. The sunken fleet of over 60 ships is the standard by which all other wreck dives are measured. In February of 1944, Japan's fortress of Truk Lagoon was attacked by Task Force 58, "Operation Hailstorm" - a group of nine aircraft carriers and related cruisers, destroyers and subs. During two days and one night, planes from these aircraft carriers conducted continuous bombing, strafing and torpedo runs on ships anchored in the lagoon. Those two days of devastating air assault created what is known today as "Ghost Fleet of Truk Lagoon."

Reefs—For over a half century, these wrecks have remained undisturbed on the bottom of Truk Lagoon. A combination of unusually warm tropical water, prolific marine life and lagoon currents have served as a natural incubator. "Swords of Destruction" have been beaten into "Ploughshares of Beauty. Fujikawa, Shinkoku, Sankisan, Seiko, Hino, Kanso, Hoki, Hoyo, Rio de Janeiro, and Yamagiri Marus are incredibly gorgeous artificial reefs, offering you, the privileged underwater visitor, photographer or videographer a full-spectrum of colorful, brilliant underwater life.

Ecology—Truk Lagoon, along with Palau, offers greater underwater bio-diversity than any other location on this water planet. Marine biologists conclude that perhaps this area was, and maybe still is, the original Garden of Eden where marine life began. Scientists from around the world gravitate to this mecca of sea life in their attempts to better-understand the multitude of unknowns in the mystery of the food chain, and how this knowledge will benefit the healthy continuance of our civilization.

Close—So very, very close, once there! Using the Island of Moen as a base, your average boat ride to most of these wrecks is only twenty minutes. Maximize your underwater exploration time—bring your computers. The sites are so close. Spend your long surface interval back on Moen. Enjoy your picnic lunch. Explore nature and WWII fortifications on other islands.

Thorfinn has a fleet of four dive tenders, each manned by expert local dive guides. Utilizing the mother ship principle, the Thorfinn puts divers on four different wrecks simultaneously. Five dive trips are scheduled daily.
